I'll wait until Kevin gets back to discuss. One suggestion is to create a redirect from <http://www.egenera.com/patents> that would take the person directly to our legal page <http://www.egenera.com/legal.com>. The legal page talks about patent infringement.

Hi Sam,

Can you check to see if we still have this page available somewhere from the old site? CC'ing Kevin too – Kevin, in the event that the page doesn't exist any more (and that's very likely), do we need to refer to a patent list in our collateral? It's not something I've done before but it could be unique to documentation.

Thanks,
Maryellen

Subject: Egenera Patent Info?

Hi Maryellen,

In our end user documentation, we have this pointer to Egenera patent info:

Egenera products are covered by one or more patents listed at <http://www.egenera.com/patents>.

I'm not able to find the Egenera patent info at this or any other location on the website. Is there any still there? If so, could you send me its location?

Thanks!

Bob
